Fluid Momentism: form, matter and movement in continuous transformation.

Contemporary painting and drawing

ENGLISH

STATEMENT

Transformation as subject

My work records transformation. Through Fluid Momentism I reject fixed form and follow the flow: bodies, folds and geometric structures become unstable configurations shaped by light and movement.

MASSIMO CASTRONUOVO

Fluid Momentism

Fluid Momentism begins with the idea that thought has no definitive form. The painted surface becomes the place where geometric order and organic impulse continuously alter one another.

The contrast between black and white builds volume; colour introduces friction, space and perceptual variation.

CRITICAL TEXT

Forms and colours in pictorial dynamism

“Geometric and informal elements recompose into three-dimensional draperies articulated through light and shadow.”

Francesco Esposito · Art critic
